The banner features a purple header and footer with the University of Victoria logo and the text "University of Victoria | Continuing Studies" and "Learning that shapes who you are." The central image shows a man in a light blue shirt sitting at a desk, working on a laptop. A speech bubble on the right contains the text "Looking for Pro-D training in the teaching field?".

Continuing Studies at UVic, in partnership with the Faculty of Education, offers online credit courses for teacher professional development. Online learning allows working professionals and others to complete courses without attending face-to-face classes.

To register, you must be admitted to the University of Victoria or you must register through Thompson Rivers University.
